Graduates

We've moved up in this year's rankings of Most Respected Company in the World, a position which we believe comes from our culture and approach. The Toyota Way means consensus-building, innovation, teamwork and respect for others, and doing everything with courage and creativity. We take this ideal so seriously that you'll be trained in it, formally and informally, as part of your 18-month programme, and see it in practice whether you're spending an 8-week placement on the production line or 6 weeks in a different division. It's a concept that works for everyone who works here. As the competition is finding out.
